IS DEDICATED TO THE
JACOB SCHLANTZ SHIMER, M. D.
THE PIONEER
IN GATHERING THE DATA FOR THE

PREFACE.

AS a loving tribute to the memory of Jacob S. Shimer, M. D., we dedicate this volume in recognition of the work he did in gathering data of the descendants of Jacob Scheimer, 1st, one of the ancestors of the Shimer Family in America.

Ten years after the death of Dr. Jacob S. Shimer, his son, William S. Shimer, M. D., of Philadelphia, Pa., entered into an agreement with the Shimer Family Reunion Association, through its President, by which the manuscript was turned over to the society. Much of this material has been included in this volume and thus the "labor of love" on the part of Jacob S. Shimer, M. D., has not been lost.

This second volume, with the exception of the sketch on the life of Doctor Shimer, written by his son, William S. Shimer, M. D., will deal principally with the third generation of the descendants of Jacob Shimer, 1st, and a genealogy in tabulated form of the descendants of Michael Shimer, who came to America in 1749, and Samuel Shimer, son of Jacob, 1st, of whom we had no record when the first volume was issued.

The work continues to be both fascinating and interesting. New discoveries are being made continually. It was fortunate that we did not attempt to have the work completed in the one volume of 1908, as much would have been lost.

Again I am indebted to the Shimers as a whole for their assistance in gathering data for this work. To Joseph P. Shimer, of Allentown, Pa., I am especially indebted for the interest he has taken in the work and his assistance particularly in taking photographs of old homesteads, tombstones, etc.

ALLEN R. SHIMER,

PETER SHIMER.

PETER SHIMER, first son of Jacob and Rosina (Scip) Shimer, grandson of Jacob, 1st, was born in the old homestead at Shimerton, now Redington, Pa., on January 20th, 1760. (Shimer History, Vol. I, page 26, first line and on the inserted page, third generation.) The record which is on the fly leaf of the old German Family Bible reads as follows:

"Peter Shimer the son of Jacob and Rosina his wife was born the 20th day of January in the year of our Lord God one thousand seven hundred and sixty (1760)."

The old book has a wooden cover, brass corners and large clasps. It is 16 x 11 and 5 inches thick. It has been in the Shimer family for over one hundred years. On the same leaf is found the entry of the death of Peter's mother, Rosina, which reads as follows:

"Rosina Shimer ended her life the fourteenth day of August, 1822, at five o'clock in the morning. She brought her age to 85 years."

Peter Shimer was twice married, first to Anna Maria Lerch, daughter of Anthony Lerch; issue one son, John Lerch Shimer, born January 15th, 1782, died August 12th, 1854. Peter Shimer's first wife died prior to 1786. His second wife was the widow of Philip Lerch, who died in 1783. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Kratzer. She was born June 29th, 1754, died May 13th, 1837; issue two sons and five daughters.

ABRAHAM, born February 7th, 1785; married Margaret Leidy, April 8th, 1810; died March 10th, 1859.

SAMUEL, born November 14th, 1796; married Susana Heinbach; died January 18th, 1867.

MARIA, born May 26th, 1787; married Jacob Knecht, 1812; died June 2nd, 1864.

SUSANNA, born October 19th, 1789; married John Riehl, November 20th, 1808; died March 9th, 1836.

ELIZABETH, born May 12th, 1791; married Samuel Leidy; died May 15th, 1853.

ANNA, born April 29th, 1794; married Tobias Weaver, March 20th, 1812; died July 6th, 1857.

ROSINA, born May 13th, 1800; married Joseph Weber, 1817; died February 23rd, 1873.

Peter Shimer resided near what is now known as Redington, Northampton County, Pa., where all his children were born. For his first born, John, he purchased a farm in Greenwich Township, five miles from Easton, Pa., near Still Valley, Warren County, N. J. The farm containing two hundred acres, with modern improvements, was bought for twenty six hundred dollars ($2600). John Shimer settled on this farm soon after he was married and by industry and thrift accumulated a large fortune. He and his six sons became the owners of six farms in the vicinity, four of which adjoined each other.

Peter Shimer died October 22nd, 1828. His body lies buried in the private burying plot at the upper end of the orchard on the old Shimer farm. (Shimer History, Vol. I, page 29.)

The inscription on the tombstone (upright stone) reads as follows:

Er erblickte das Licht
dieser Welt den 13ten
January 1758
und starb den 22ten
October 1828
in einem alter

Sanft ruhe seine entseelte
Huelle bis Jesu ruf sie wecke zum ewigen Leben.

NOTE: The old family Bible records his birth as of January 20th, 1760, while the tombstone reads January 13th, 1758.

The will of Peter Scheimer, a copy of which follows, is a noteworthy document, reflecting as it does, not only the spirit of the times, but also in marked fashion the spirit of thoughtfulness. Even the most cursory perusal of his will and testament forces the conviction that Peter Scheimer possessed integrity of character and good judgment; that he was a man of standing and repute in his community; that he gave close attention to details affecting the welfare of his family; in short, that he was a good man.

PETER SHIMER [SEAL]

JOHN SHIMER.

JACOB AND ROSINA (SEIP) SHIMER had three sons, Peter, Samuel and John. John Shimer, grandson of Jacob, 1st, was born in Lower Saucon Township, Northampton County, Pa. The following record is found on the fly leaf of the old German Family Bible:

"John Shimer son of Jacob Shimer and Rosina his wife was born the fourth day of April in the year of our Lord God one thousand seven hundred and sixty four (1764)."

John Shimer bound himself, by articles of Indenture, dated February 13th, 1781, as apprentice, to Jacob Bittenbender, Upper Saucon Township, Northampton County, wheelwright, to learn his trade for a full term of three years. Besides providing for him generally, Bittenbender had to give him, at the termination of his apprenticeship, a complete suit of clothing and nine pounds hard cash, at 7s. 6d. per Spanish milled dollar. He was only six years old when his father died, and the learning of a trade was in accordance with the old German custom.

The following document in the possession of the descendants of John Shimer is very highly valued by them; it reads as follows:

In the NAME and by the AUTHORITY of the FREEMEN of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, of the said Commonwealth.

A cornet was an officer of cavalry who carried the ensign or colors of a troop. He was the third officer in the company.

In the year 1792 John Shimer purchased from Jacob Miller over 250 acres of land, the premises on which the present village of Shimerville, Lehigh County, is located. Following is a copy of the deed.

Homestead of John Shimer, Shimerville, Lehigh County, Pa.
Situated on the "King's Highway."

In Lehigh County the name is spelled Shimerville, while in Northampton County it is spelled Shimersville. Old parchment Deeds in possession of Llewellyn S. Shimer give the following record of the land: August 22nd, 1733, John, Thomas and Richard Penn, sold to Dirick Johnson 352 acres of land situated on a branch of the Perkiomen Creek in Bucks County for 46 pounds, 16 shillings, lawful money of Pennsylvania, which was equal to $124.66 of our present currency. In addition to this Johnson was to pay them quit rent of one-half pound sterling per acre. (Philadelphia Office of Deeds, Pat. Book A, Vol. VII, page 472.) Dirick Johnson had a son, John Johnson, to whom in 1755 he willed 250 acres of this original plot which was called in the will "The Indian land at the head of the Perkiomen." JACOB SHIMER, eldest son of Edward and Rosina Shimer, and grandson of Jacob Scheimer, 1st, was born at Shimerton, now Redington, Northampton County, Pa. The old family Bible contains the following record:

"Jacob Shimer son of Edward Shimer and his wife Rosina was born the first day of January in the year of our Lord God one thousand seven hundred and sixty seven (1767) at four o'clock in the afternoon."

June 18, 1787, Edward Shimer, father of Jacob, bought of David Beidelman a tract of 141 acres and 94 perches, situated on the north bank of the Lehigh River in Bethlehem Township nearly opposite his farm which was on the south bank of the river. The land in that part of Bethlehem Township in which the farm was located was known as "The Barrens" or "The Dry Lands," because it was thought to be so irreclaimably arid and barren that it would never be fit for human habitation. Today, however, it is considered among the best land of the country, and the farm is still in the possession of the Shimer family.

It might be interesting to know that on June 1st, 1737, Thomas and Richard Penn sold 500 acres of land situated on the west branch of the river Delaware, then in the County of Bucks, now in the County of Northampton, to Thomas Grocine. He in turn, in 1749, sold the 500 acres to Charles Stedman, who sold 250 acres of it to Leonard Beitelman in 1767. In 1783 Leonard Beitelman sold the 250 acres to David Beidelman and in 1787, June 18th, David Beidelman sold 141 acres and 94 perches of this plot to Edward Shimer for 720 pounds ($1920).

Following is a copy of the deed which, by the way, was witnessed by John Beyl, father of the young lady whom Jacob afterward married:

The first land that Jacob Shimer owned was in 1799 when his father, Edward Shimer, sold to him, and his brother, Isaac, a plot of 9 acres and 168 perches of the original plot of 141 acres and 94 perches, on which the two boys built a grist mill. Jacob and Isaac, who, by the way, married sisters, paid their father $2 for the land; presumably each paid $1. The deed intimates that the principal consideration was "the natural love the parents bore for their children." The money was paid so as to make it a legal transaction. The document was witnessed by I. Shimer. This was old Squire Isaac Shimer, of Williams Township, an uncle to the boys. About the same time they built a stone house opposite the mill. The house still stands and is well preserved; the mill, however, is a ruin, having been destroyed by fire some years ago.

I. SHIMER.

In 1802 Isaac sold his half to Jacob for 1200 pounds lawful money of Pennsylvania, which was equivalent to $3,192. In 1809 Jacob sold the tract of 9 acres, the mill property, to Michael Hart, who for a number of years was the miller. This property changed hands a number of times until March 31st, 1882, when E. J. and Levi Benner sold the mill and land to Samuel and George Shimer for $7,750. (Recorder of Deeds office, Easton, Pa., Book B, Vol. XVII, page 192.)

Samuel Shimer paid his brother, George, $7,500 for his half interest in the 9 acres and mill, for which his grandfather, Jacob, paid $1. It is quite a coincidence that the brothers Jacob and Isaac, sons of Edward, bought the place and built the stone house and mill, and that then Isaac sells his half interest to Jacob. Again we have brothers, Samuel and George, owning the same piece of property and Samuel sells his half to George.

At the Easton court house we find in Deed Book E, Vol. III, page 363, that Edward Shimer and wife, on January 20th, 1810, sold to their son, Jacob, the balance of the original 141 acres, namely, 132 acres, for 500 pounds lawful money of Pennsylvania. Jacob, therefore, becomes the owner of the entire original farm. He in turn leaves it by will to his youngest son, Abraham, who in turn wills it to his two sons, Samuel and George. Samuel sells his half to George, so that finally George becomes the owner of the entire original farm, mill property and all, and today (1914) it is owned by his estate.

The larger tract, too, was divided by will, and Samuel sold his half interest of this tract to his brother, George, for $10,500. Apparently the 9 acres bought for $2.00 in 1799 was worth, with mill and house, $15,000 in 1885.

Edward Shimer paid David Beidelman 720 pounds in gold and silver coin ($1920) for the 141 acres in 1787. The last transaction, the selling of Samuel's half to George, showed a valuation of $36,000.

The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company bought a strip of this land, September 1st, 1834.

Records show that Jacob Shimer was a progressive and successful farmer and was often consulted by his neighbors on matters of agriculture. He devised a method of farming by proper rotation of crops to suit exactly the condition of the soil, and he succeeded in raising as high as fifty bushels of wheat per acre. This won for him the first prize in a competition on methods of farming.

April, 1791, Jacob Shimer married Elizabeth Beyl, daughter of John Beyl, a prominent citizen of his time and a member of the Committee of Safety during the Revolution. She was born September 15th, 1772, and died January 31st, 1857, at the ripe old age of 84 years.

ELIZABETH (BEYL) SHIMER.

The children of this marriage were John, Joseph, Edward, Isaac, Jacob, Elizabeth, Samuel and Abraham.

JOHN B., born June 7th, 1792; married April 7th, 1816, Mary (Polly) Schweitzer and settled in Shimersville, Northampton County, Pa. He died July 29th, 1878.

JOSEPH B., born May 2nd, 1795; married 1818, Catherine Mills Hubler and made his home in Mt. Bethel Township, Northampton County, Pa. He died August 13th, 1878.

EDWARD B., born June 27th, 1797, married March 18th, 1821, Hannah Lerch and built his home in Forks Township, Northampton County, Pa. He died October 10th, 1869.

ISAAC B., born August 25th, 1799; married May 12th, 1824, Kate Apple and established himself in Shimersville, Northampton County, Pa. He died December 17th, 1863.

JACOB B., born October 10th, 1802; married March 17th, 1829, Fayettea Keck and moved to Bath, Northampton County, Pa. He died October, 1871.

ELIZABETH, born April 21st, 1805; married October 22nd, 1822, Michael Butz and lived in Easton, Northampton County, Pa. She died June 5th, 1899.

The "Old Shimer Homestead," built in 1816 at Shimersville, Northampton County, Pa., by Jacob Shimer, for his eldest son, John Beryl Shimer, who was a great-grandson of Jacob (1st) and Elizabeth Scheimer. John B. Shimer married Mary Schweitzer and here their ten children and a number of grandchildren were born.

SAMUEL B., born September 21st, 1807; married September 21st, 1852, Anna Knies and moved to Illinois. He died March 9th, 1897.

ABRAHAM B., born March 12th, 1809; married May 23rd, Margaretta Johnson and remained at the old homestead. He died January 1st, 1881.

In 1801 Jacob Shimer built the old stone house along the Lehigh River about a mile below Freemansburg, Pa. The old house is still well preserved and is still in the possession of the Shimer family. It was at this old homestead in 1905 that the Shimer Family Reunion Association was organized and at which place the Shimers have held many pleasant reunions.

In June, 1809, for $10,666.66, lawful money of the United States, William Curry, of Plymouth Township, in the county of Luzerne, Pa., yeoman, deeded to Jacob Shimer one hundred and eighty acres and a mill, situated in Lower Saucon Township, Northampton County, Pa., at the mouth of the Saucon Creek. Around this mill, which was known as Shimer's Mill, as a nucleus, the village of Shimersville gradually grew. The original mill, the oldest of its kind in the Lehigh Valley, was built by Jedediah Irish in 1735, and the farmers of all the section round about, in the eighteenth century, carried their grain there to be ground. This is shown by the fact that in 1743 the Moravians of Bethlehem petitioned the court to open a wagon road from their place to the mill. The road was opened. His son, Graves of Jacob and Elizabeth Shimer, old Lower Saucon burying ground.

Isaac B. Shimer, operated the mill until 1832, when it was again sold, this time to Samuel Leidig. In 1836 Benjamin Riegel purchased the property and in the year 1842 it passed into the possession of the late John Knecht, Mr. Riegel's son-in-law.

In 1816 Jacob Shimer built for his eldest son, John, a substantial brick house, where John and Mary Shimer reared their family of ten children and where a number of grandchildren were born. The homestead is still in the possession of one of the descendants, Mrs. Ida (Shimer) Laudenberger.

Jacob Shimer died October 5th, 1845, and lies buried in the old burying grounds at Lower Saucon Church, Northampton County, Pa., of which church he was an active member.

Following is the inscription on the tombstone:

Jacob Scheimer, er wurde geboren den 1st Januari 1767 und entschlief den 5th October 1845 alt 78 Jahre 7 Monate und 4 Tage.

His wife, Elizabeth, lies buried beside him and upon her tombstone we find the following:

Elizabeth Scheimer gatten von Jacob Scheimer geb. den 15th Sept. 1772 starb—den 31st Jan. 1857 alt 84 Jahre 4 Mo. 15 Tage.

We note that even in those early days they began to abbreviate words. The will of Jacob Shimer reads most beautifully and shows the character of the man, especially his thoughtfulness of his wife's welfare.

I, Jacob Shimer of Bethlehem Township in the County of Northampton and Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Yeoman, being in good health of body and of a sound, disposing mind, memory and understanding prepared by God for the same by consideration that it is appointed for all men once to die, and when it shall please God to call me hence and being desirous of settling my worldly affairs whilst I have strength and capacity so to do: Do therefore make and publish this my last will and testament in manner and form following:

Observe and believe that they signed the same as witnesses in the presence and at the request of the said testator and in the presence of each other and in the presence of Levi Butz. Witness my hand and seal, Phillip Mattes, Register, same day letters testamentary were granted to Abraham B. Shimer and Michael Butz the executors in the said will named, having first and duly sworn according to law.

PHILLIP H. MATTES [SEAL]

NOTE: It will be noticed by the above will that the middle initial of all the sons of Jacob and Elizabeth Shimer was "B." Undoubtedly the letter "B" stands for Beyl, the maiden name of their mother. The writer never knew of this fact before reading the above will. For this reason no mention was made of it in Volume I.

All descendants of Jacob and Elizabeth (Beyl) Shimer are eligible to membership in either the Sons or Daughters of the American Revolution. Jacob's father, Edward Shimer, was a Captain in the First Battalion from Northampton County, Pa., under Colonel George Hubner in 1777, and also a member of the Revolutionary Committee of Safety of Northampton County, Pa. Elizabeth (Beyl) Shimer's father, John Beyl, was also a member of the Revolutionary Committee of Safety.

From the original muster rolls in the Division of Public Record we find the following (5th Series, Pennsylvania Archives, Vol. VIII, page 167):

"This is to certify that Jacob Lark was and performed duty as 4th Coporal, whilst Edward Shymer (Shimer) and Geo. Stuber was Captain of this 4th Company, Malitia, of Lower Saucon, and is now the 4th Serg't of said Company. Witness my hand this 14th day of Feb. 1782. Jesse Jones, Cap't."

SHIMERSVILLE.

SHIMERSVILLE is the oldest village in Lower Saucon Township, Northampton County, Pa. It is situated at the mouth of the Saucon Creek and was named after Jacob Shimer, grandson of Jacob, 1st. The name Saucon is supposed to be derived from the Indian name "sakunk," which means at the place of the creek's mouth. This is the more probable because there was an Indian village at the mouth of the Saucon and the first settlers may have understood the Indians to mean by "sakunk," the name of the creek. Even after the white settlers had arrived the Indians returned at least once a year, to hold some of their ceremonies on the spot where once the village of their forefathers stood. Saucon was created a township of Bucks County in 1742.

In 1899 the "Old Home" was remodeled by John A. Landenberger, husband of Ida R. Shimer, a granddaughter of John B. Shimer.

Years ago the village contained about twenty dwelling houses, one store, one gristmill, one sawmill, a foundry and a blacksmith shop. There, too, was the never to be-forgotten old covered bridge. Time, however, has wrought many changes in that picturesque little village. Today it is the center of great industrial activities. The one time beautiful farms are covered with the large plants of the Bethlehem Steel Company and the William Shimer Son & Co. plant. The trolley cars pass through the village every few minutes; the old sawmill is a thing of the past; the store is replaced by the palatial residence of Mr. Howard Knecht, and the old homestead, built in 1816 by Jacob Shimer for his eldest son, John, has been remodeled and is the beautiful home of Mrs. Ida (Shimer) Laudenberger.

The foundry, originally a woolen mill, was built in 1824 by John B. Shimer. For a number of years it was leased to William Chamberlain, but in 1837 George Shimer, son of John B. Shimer, took charge. In 1842 the freshet washed away the frame building and flooded the machinery. A new stone building was erected in its stead. In 1863 the mill burnt down. It was rebuilt at once, but in 1864 it burnt down a second time. James O. Shimer now entered into copartnership with his brother, George, and a new building was erected. Business increased until as much as $60,000 worth of woolen goods were manufactured in one year. In 1872 George sold out his interest to James, who removed the business to Allentown, Pa. The building remained idle until March, 1875, when Shimer & Co., composed of William Shimer (brother of George), his two sons, Milton J. and Irvin H., and his brother, Jacob T. Shimer (father of the writer), commenced the foundry and machine business. They began the manufacture of hardware soon after, such as sad irons, scales, toys and small hardware in general. In this mill, in 1877, when a boy of 14, the writer worked, making cores for the foundry and helping to paint scales, etc. Today (1914) the plant is one of the largest independent manufactories of small ware in the country, and the goods are shipped to all parts of the world. The business is conducted by Milton J. Shimer and his son, Stanley D., under the firm name of William Shimer Son & Co.

The old covered bridge at the foot of the village appeared to be a favorite resting place for the cows during the night, especially in summer, and, as there were no electric lights to illuminate the bridge, which was a very dark one, the villagers told tales of stumbling among the cattle. The bridge is now replaced with a modern iron structure.

Just below the old bridge, along the creek, stands a modest little home which was built by George Shimer for his twin brother, Samuel, who afterward became the owner of the property. On the ridge, just back of this house, stood a large hickory tree and beside this tree was a heavy stone, around which centers an interesting story. Milton J. Shimer told the writer, that when a lad living with his parents at the old homestead at the upper end of the village, it was his duty, as well as pleasure (?) to plow that land and he always had the good fortune to run his plow against this stone which gave him a sudden jolt. Speaking to his grandfather, John B. Shimer, about it he was told that it was a headstone marking the last resting place of several white people and some Indians who were buried there many years ago. The graves were seen under this giant hickory tree as late as 1850, but for many years no traces remained to mark the spot where the bodies of these early settlers lay.

In 1912, when the workmen in the employ of F. H. Clements & Co. were laying the water main system from the Lehigh Coke Company's plant to the Lehigh River, which passed this spot, their steam shovel unearthed a skeleton. For some time, Milton J. Shimer had the skull in his office and it brought to mind his boyhood days when his plow would strike the stone marking the last resting place of those buried there.

Investigation and research developed an interesting story in reference to this "private burial plot" in Shimersville, where three white persons, namely, John Curry, his wife, Lathrop Cruikshank Curry, her brother, Dr. James Cruikshank, and an Indian, were buried.

The land on which Shimersville is located was originally purchased from proprietaries by Jedediah Irish in 1735. The Penns disposed of 100,000 acres of land by lottery. Mr. Irish held three tickets and he was entitled to three tracts of 500 acres each, two of which he selected on the south bank and one on the north bank of the Lehigh River. Afterward he sold two of the tracts to the Moravians, part of Bethlehem being located on one of them. In October, 1743, Mr. Irish conveyed 600 acres and the gristmill to George Cruikshank, a sugar planter on the island of Montserrat, West Indies, whose father, the Rev. James Cruikshank, was a Lutheran clergyman. The latter died in 1725. George Cruikshank, before his death in 1740, added 300 more acres to his tract lying contiguous along the Saucon Creek. After his death the property descended to his two children, James, a medical practitioner, and Lathrop, a daughter. The latter married, in 1769, John Curry, a lawyer of Reading. Mr. Curry soon after his marriage retired from the bar and with his wife took up his residence on the Cruikshank lands in what is now Shimersville, entering into possession of 450 acres of land, the homestead and the mill. In 1787 Mr. Curry deeded back to his brother-in-law, Doctor Cruikshank, 180 acres including the mill. Dr. James Cruikshank in his will, dated September 24th, 1802, bequeathed to Mary, Francis and William Curry, children of John and Lathrop Curry, the aforementioned 180 acres and mill, both of which were deeded by William Curry, then of Plymouth Township, Luzerne County, to Jacob Shimer, of Bethlehem Township, in June, 1809, for $10,666.66.

The writer asked Edgar Dubs Shimer, Ph. D., LL. D., of New York City, for some reminiscence of his boyhood days at Shimersville. Following is his reply:

At the mouth of Saucon Creek just a few rods above the point of junction with the Lehigh River, in Lower Saucon Township, Northampton County, Pa., lies the hamlet of Shimersville, to me the dearest spot on earth because of the many fond associations that cluster around it.

Here I was born and here my youthful joys and sorrows were intermingled, until at the age of sixteen I went to college.

My grandfather, John Peyl Shimer, had retired from farming, and lived in a substantial brick house at the top of the hill opposite the stone homestead, occupied by his oldest son, my uncle William, who ran the farm.

At the foot of the hill stood my father's house and store, with land enough attached to contain a large garden and nearly three hundred fruit trees of various kinds, not to mention the numerous grape vines and berry bushes, the frequent delight and as frequent torment of my young existence. The lawns were kept close shaven; and there were no lawn mowers in those days. Well marked scars on my hands remind me often of my tribulations in learning how to whet a moon-shaped sickle. How tired my fingers grew from grasping the sheep-shears in trimming out corners! Peach borers had to be dug out and every choice plant had to be carefully mulched. The walks were smoothly laid with tan bark every year. Fruits were carefully gathered and garnered for winter supply. The days were joyfully busy for all, young and old, and I was no doubt but a small factor in the solution of the problem of keeping things spick and span.

The store was the chief gathering place for the community, although there was a tavern next door. Across the way was a gristmill with its fascinating crane to lift into its second story the bags of grain brought in farmers' wagons standing below. Who could understand the mystery of the ascending and descending elevator cups fastened on a broad strap that revolved endlessly? What peepings! And what dire forebiddings! But the dusty miller with his white hat was a kindly soul, so by degrees I learned to know the windings in and about the old mill, which nevertheless lost none of its uncanny strangeness. I can still hear the remorseless grating of the mill stones, the whirring of the large straps and the susurrus of the lighter gear. I can still feel the lulling influence of the place. As I surrender myself to this charm, the long, long thoughts of youth flock in upon my memory and again I seem to have as then a vision of the far beyond.

Just below the gristmill was a sawmill with a large log yard in front of it. This was an open playground. Here we gathered sawdust to carry to the smoke house in which hung the treasures of the butchering season. It took some skill to make a fire and so to smother it with sawdust as to have only smoke ooze out at the top to cure ham, beef, sausages and other such delicatessen. I can vouch that a boy with a sharp knife in a smoke house well filled can secure a surreptitious tidbit of very delicate eating even after he has well started the smudge. But dragging home slabs from the sawmill, sawing them up into convenient lengths, splitting these up and piling the pieces in the wood house gave less exhilaration than exercise. However, there was much gamboling in the sawmill before the slabs could be collected. After the vociferous saw had cut its way partly into a well trussed log we might now and then ride on the rear of the log for the rest of its journey, but we always did this with the fearsome pleasure attending peril.

Choked with dust, or thirsty from exercise, we would rush across the street to the old pump by the sidewalk, just below the tavern, and by dint of many small pumpings of the long pump-arm finally drew from the cool depths below the most delicious liquid refreshment that mortals can know.

There were some of the older folk who would pass by this upper pump and go to one lower down in the village because of a refinement in taste not possessed by us younger ones. As I grew older, I tried under the law of imitation, to make a decision for myself, but failed because the last drink I took, no matter at which pump it happened to be, always seemed to be the best I had ever had.

But the blacksmith in his shop at the lowest point of the village where a covered bridge crossed the creek, preferred the water from the upper pump, as I well recollect, for did I not have to pass by the lower pump to go five rods farther whenever I was called on to fill his water jug? We had to pass by the blacksmith shop if we wanted to go rowing or fishing or swimming in the Lehigh, so we often saw the place and watched its activities. Then, too, we took horses there to be shod, tools to be mended and knives to be sharpened. The place was a lodestone for us all. How much my cousin Milton was influenced by this smithy I cannot tell, but he was hardly fourteen when he had a small forge of his own. To my mind he was a necromancer in iron. It was he who made the first frictional electric generator that I ever saw, and the first Leyden jar. The thrill of that experience will never die. Milton was older than the rest of us cousins, and naturally was our leader. He had all the virtues of a good leader, and he influenced us for good. The memory of a certain respect for him, coupled with affection, is very clear. I cannot recollect him, for example, wearing curls. I can clearly recollect seeing aunt Susan clip off cousin Irwin's long flaxen curls, and my own quick trip home with the cry that I wasn't going to wear curls any longer if Irwin didn't. My clamor prevailed and two funnier bob-cats were never seen in that village before. We were teased unmercifully, but Milton protected us. We learned to ride and to drive, to fish and to gun, to row and to make nets, to scale trees and to trap game, to build sleds and to ride them, above all to make a good whip lash and crack it like a man.

Of course, we went to school, winter and summer, and glorious times we had. Unless my memory is very faulty, we received most excellent schooling. I can recall vividly a class discussion on punctuation as affecting the mood of a verb. I can still repeat songs and memory gems learned at that time. My tongue never slips in repeating long exercises in phonetics practiced then. How plainly a piece of phosphorus appeared to be an innocent looking object so long as it was properly covered, and how it fumed and burned when in free air! The old school-house fairly rises out of the past.

What a chase we had one morning with our Gray's First Lessons in Botany in securely identifying Linnaria vulgaris! My taste for botany was formed in this school.

It was this teacher who told me I ought to become a teacher and under his urging, I secured my first teacher's license. The Mount Pleasant school is of blessed memory.

When my father, James O. Shimer, sold out his store and his candle factory, and joined his brother, my uncle George, in the manufacture of woolens in the old woolen mill across the Saucun not far from the village, I began to spend my spare time with machines. Here, my cousin John, who was shot in the Civil War, and my cousin, Gilvin T. Roth, now a successful woolen manufacturer in North Carolina, and I, vied with each other in learning to master every form of manipulation of wool, and all the various machines, with the idea of conducting the business on our own account at some future period. The untimely death of cousin John put an end to the plan. Uncle Samuel, twin brother to uncle George, fostered the scheme and gave us much sympathetic aid. We had to repair our own machines whenever they were out of order. The training was eminently practical and had a beneficial, intellectual reaction because we had to render a clear and succinct report of what we had done.

During this period Gilvin showed great skill in mechanics. In his leisure he constructed a small steam engine that worked successfully.

Later he joined Milton in Philadelphia, where both pursued the final study of mechanics, and I went to college.

My mother's father, Rev. Joseph S. Dubs, D. D., was a preacher; so were both her brothers, Alfred and Joseph. What more likely than that I should study for the ministry? I had a fondness for philosophy even at this early age. My father had been a superintendent of a Sunday school for many years. Theological discussions were nothing unusual. Aunt Sellie gathered us together at grandfather's house weekly for Bible study. Uncle George led us carefully through Rollin's Ancient History in weekly lessons. He and I spent hours after the lessons were over in discussing mooted points.

Those were days of steady growth in reaching after a man's way of thinking and in gaining power to reach safe conclusions.

Shimersville was not a stagnant country village to me. Field and forest, home and shop industries, school and church activities, and above all, daily personal communion in thought and spirit with my elders, not only those of blood relation, opened wide vistas of mental possibilities that I have ever since striven to keep in view.

Had it not been for my blessed mother, I should most likely be a storekeeper, or a woolen manufacturer, or a mechanic. Horace Mann says that there is no discredit in selling tape by the yard, that the only discredit lies in having a soul no wider than the tape and no longer than the yard stick. I do not disparage such pursuits. However, the older I grow, the more it is borne in upon me that the one thing I ought to do is to teach. It answers the cry of my soul and does not seem at any time to be toil. There is daily joy in the daily performance of duty.

If the little village of Shimersville can have made it possible for me to develop an ideal of life which satisfies the more it is realized, it is a safe inference that others who have gone out into the world to carve their fortunes, look back to their early experiences in this community, with the same fondness that possesses me, and that they will understand the motives which prompt these lines even though they have been written practically at the command of our cousin Allen, who will not be put off, and whose enthusiasm is so contagious.

Let us hope that he will, himself, put pen to paper and give us the same racy, running account of historical data on Shimersville, the birthplace of his father, my uncle Jacob, as he gave us orally at our reunion of his trip among the Shimers elsewhere. He spent much of his youth in this place and can give us glimpses of life there that we will enjoy.

It would take a well organized book of many chapters to describe adequately my birthplace and the life I lived there until I was sixteen years of age. This slight sketch may, however, serve to revive in the minds of some of its readers faded memories of their own blessed experience in this blessed hamlet. If such memories, like mine, have never faded but have always kept fresh and bright all the better. Then we may rejoice together that our Shimer reunions have been glorified by a full recognition and an abiding appreciation of what our fathers and mothers did for us in the old homestead.

ISAAC SHIMER.

ISAAC SHIMER, second son of Edward and Rosina Shimer, and grandson of Jacob Scheimer, 1st, was born at the old homestead at Shimerton, now Redington, Pa., May 6th, 1769.

In 1796 he married Susanna Beyl, daughter of John and Dorothea Beyl, and sister of Elizabeth Beyl, who was the wife of his brother, Jacob. Brothers married sisters.

John Beyl, father-in-law of Isaac and Jacob Shimer, a large landowner in Northampton County, was one of the most prominent citizens of his day in that county. He was a member of the Revolutionary Committee of Safety and held the office of Justice under the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1784.

On February 11th, 1806, a number of citizens met in the Stone Church, near Ironville in Lower Saucon, Northampton County, and consulted how best to promote Christian virtue and put an end to the immoralities of the neighborhood. An association was formed "For the encouragement of Christian virtue and the advancement of civil order." Of this organization, John Beyl was elected President.

Isaac Shimer was, as was most everybody in those days in Northampton County, a farmer. We find on January 20th, 1810, just fourteen years after he was married, a record in the Recorder's office at Easton, Pa., Book E, Vol. III, page 371, of a deed of Edward and Rosina Shimer to Isaac Shimer for 166 acres of land. The land was a part of the original plot bought by Jacob Scheimer, 1st, in 1740. This same land is still in the possession of the descendants of Isaac Shimer. The deed was witnessed by John Beyl, his father-in-law, and Jacob Lerch. A part of the deed reads as follows: "Now know ye that the said Edward Shimer and Rosina his wife in consideration of their natural love which they bear their son, as also for the consideration of the sum of five hundred pounds lawful money in Pennsylvania, unto them in hand well and truly paid by their son Isaac Shimer before the sealing and delivering thereof, the receipt is hereby acknowledged, etc., etc." We note that a part of the consideration was the "natural love" which the parents bore their son. Surely a good family trait.

We find that on the same date, January 20th, 1810, Edward Shimer sold to his son, Jacob (Edward Shimer had two sons, Jacob and Isaac), his farm on the north bank of the river Lehigh nearly opposite Isaac's farm, for 500 pounds. Isaac paid 500 pounds for 166 acres and Jacob paid the same amount for 132 acres. At this time Edward Shimer was about 70 years of age, Jacob about 43 and Isaac 41.

Isaac Shimer died January 1st, 1838, and lies buried in the old burying ground at Lower Saucon Church, of which church he was a member.

Some time after his death his widow went to live with her daughter, Lydia, wife of David Boyer, with whom she spent the rest of her days, dying April, 1848.

The old graveyard and Saucon Church, where Isaac Shimer and his wife, Susanna, are buried, also his brother, Jacob, and wife, Elizabeth. Here, too, lies buried Jacob Schimer, son of Jacob, 1st. It is the oldest known Shimer grave in America.

Isaac Shimer and Susanna, his wife, had three sons and two daughters.

CHARLES, born January 17th, 1797; died July 4th, 1839. Married, December 25th, 1818, Catherine Boyer.

JESSE, born February 4th, 1801; died October 6th, 1856. Married, 1822, Catherine Lutz (Lutts).

THOMAS, born July 1st, 1804; died September 11th, 1837. Married, November 28th, 1827, Susan Lutz.

LYDIA, born July 28th, 1806; died March 17th, 1863. Married David Boyer.

SARAH, born January 14th, 1809; died 1835. Married, 1827, John P. Lutz.

NOTE: All descendants of Isaac and Susanna (Beyl) Shimer are eligible to membership in either the Sons or Daughters of the American Revolution. Isaac's father, Edward Shimer, was a Captain in the First Battalion from Northampton County, Pa., under Colonel George Hubner in 1777. (Page 167, Vol. VIII, 5th Series, Pennsylvania Archives.)

JACOB SCHANTZ SHIMER, M. D.

JACOB SCHANTZ SHIMER, M. D., son of Charles Shimer and Anna Schantz, was born in Shimerville, Lehigh County, April 4th, 1836. His paternal grandfather was also his godfather and first teacher, who, as soon as the grandson could talk, took him upon his lap and taught him the German alphabet out of a newspaper. It was not long until he could read, when his godfather procured a booklet containing pictures of birds, and a brief and simple description of them. Among others, was an eagle. This was his first lesson in natural history.

As was customary with farmers' sons, he had to work on the farm, according to his strength, as he grew older. His educational advantages were limited to such as public schools, at that time, meagerly afforded. Notwithstanding, by the time he had reached his fifteenth year, he had "mastered" Pike's and Rose's arithmetics; mensuration, surveying, which embraced logarithms and plane trigonometry, and algebra. All the copies of examples, as he worked them out, are still in the possession of his children. This had to be accomplished mostly on long winter evenings by the pale and ineffectual light of the fat lamp with the tow wick.

During his fifteenth year, he served as clerk in a general store in his native place. He also served as deputy postmaster for his father, for some years, during and prior to this. He was now given the advantages of one term of six months' instruction in the Easton Seminary, and, immediately following, entered the Allentown Academy, where he studied one year. He confined himself principally to the study of English Grammar, Latin and French.

In the spring of 1855, he took up the study of medicine, under the preceptorship of Dr. Filghuan H. Martin, of Allentown; and, in the fall of the same year, entered the office of the Professor of Surgery, Dr. Henry H. Smith, in the University of Pennsylvania, as private student, at the same time matriculating in the university. He also took two extra courses—one on "Surgical Anatomy and Operative Surgery" under the late Professor of Surgery, D. Hayes Agnew, and in the Philadelphia School of Practical Obstetrics for instruction in "Theoretical, Practical and Clinical Obstetrics" by the late Professor of Obstetrics, Dr. R. A. F. Penrose, from which he received special diplomas. He also served, during his last term, in the dispensary of the university. On March 27th, 1857, he received his diploma from his alma mater, and immediately entered into full partnership with Dr. Samuel Ridgway Rittenhouse, in Millerstown, where he practiced medicine for eleven months.

He married, the same year, Miss Caroline C. Smith, daughter of William C. Smith, a wholesale leather merchant of Philadelphia. In the year 1858, he removed to his native place, and practiced medicine for about six years. He sold his property in 1865 to Dr. Albert M. Sigmund. In 1866, Doctor Shimer united himself with the Evangelical Association and was licensed, in the spring of 1866, as a minister of the gospel. He continued to preach the gospel in several circuits of the church, in and near Philadelphia, for several years. He was then compelled to resign his ministerial charge on account of throat trouble, and returned to his medical profession, which he practiced until his death.

During his ministry, he was English Secretary of the East Pennsylvania Conference, convened at Reading, Pa., in 1868. He was a frequent contributor to the two church organs of the Evangelical Church, Der Christliche Botschafter and The Evangelical Messenger, for many years; and, from 1880 to 1890, he was a corresponding editor of a non-sectarian quarterly magazine for scientific and practical theology—Vierteljahreschrift fuer Wissenschaftliche und Praktische Theologie (in German), published in Cleveland, Ohio. He was also for many years a member of the Board of School Directors of the Thirteenth Section. His wife died August 22nd, 1897.

The issue of his marriage was one son, William Smith, born December 1st, 1865, and six daughters: Catherine Virginia, born November 18th, 1858; died May 7th, 1862. Annie Ellen, born November 25th, 1861; died August 25th, 1862. Ida Minerva, born November 16th, 1863. Caroline Salome, born November 23rd, 1867. Irene Cecilia, born August 15th, 1871; died October 20th, 1891. Mary Elizabeth, born December 15th, 1874.

Doctor Shimer suffered two attacks of apoplexy in the summer of 1898, as a result of which he passed away on July 27th of the same year, and was laid at rest in the church yard of the Lutheran Church in Zionsville, Lehigh County, Pa.

Twelfth reunion of the Shimer family at the home of Robert A. Shimer, Rio Grande, N. M., August 12, 1901.

REUNIONS.

[The writer asked Porter W. Shimer, E. M., Ph. D., of Easton, Pa., for a short sketch on our recent family reunions. Following is his reply.]

OUR PRESIDENT has asked for a short account of the reunions of the years 1911 to 1913 and, like a good soldier, I must obey. The reunion of 1911 was held at the homes of our Riegelsville cousins, Robert A. Shimer and Mrs. B. F. Fackenthal, Jr. These beautiful and hospitable homes stand side by side, looking out through their groves of forest trees, over cousin Sarah's garden, to the Delaware River and beyond. The view from the rear lawns, which are unvexed by dividing line or hedge, is a delightful bit of picturesque farm and wood-covered Pennsylvania hillside.

The summer day we spent amid these ideal surroundings, with overflowing cousinly "gemuetlichkeit" on all sides, was one of those rare days which live in the memory as long as life lasts. The weather was perfect for which, next to Providence, we must thank the good Fackenthals, for was it not proverbial "Fackenthal weather"? That the tables were covered with every good thing to eat goes without saying, for the Shimer cooks of today are worthy descendants of a long and able line. We had good music and this found its way to the heart all the more easily because much of it was made by our own home folks. The addresses we listened to with so much pleasure seemed, one and all, to be specially inspired by the place and the occasion. We had cousin Edgar Dubs Shimer with us and he talked to us as only he can. We all hope that he will be spared for very many reunions to come in robust health and strength so that he may continue, each year, to please, instruct and inspire us by his inimitable talks.

The day came to an end with wishes for a long life and happiness for our kind hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Shimer and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Fackenthal, Jr.

The reunion of 1912 was held at "The Pines," the home of Mr. William S. Shimer and wife, near Phillipsburg, N. J. This fine old Shimer homestead, set in its pine grove, testifying to the solid prosperity of the able farmers of the olden time, was a most appropriate place for the family to gather. In spite of a dismal rain there was a large attendance. The meeting was held indoors and on the porches and there was every evidence that the rain failed to dampen in the least the spirits of those present. A very interesting feature of the meeting was the presentation, with the hearty approval of all those present, of a handsome gavel to the President of the Family Association. On one side of the gavel is a silver plate bearing the following inscription: "To Allen R. Shimer. Presented by your dear cousins for the great interest taken in the Shimer Family, August 10th, 1912." On a similar plate on the other side the following words are inscribed: "This apple-wood was taken from your great-grandfather's orchard at Dry Land, Northampton County, Pa., Jacob Seip Shimer."

The surprise and momentary embarrassment of the recipient were enjoyed by all, but it did not take him long to rise to the occasion and respond to the presentation address of Mr. Hart with an appropriate speech.

The thanks of all are due to our hosts for all that they did to make our meeting a success.

The reunion of 1913 was held at Oakland Park. We have had other meetings in this place and our memory of them is apt to be a composite of all of them; they do not stand out with the individuality of those held in the homesteads. However, it would be hard to meet at any place in Northampton County that has not a family association of some kind, and Oakland Park is not far from a number of the old home nests.

This meeting was notable for the organization of the Shimer Historical Society, whose main purpose is to gather together and periodically to publish matters of interest bearing on the history and genealogy of the Shimer family.

It would never do to close this brief account without acknowledging a debt of gratitude to Mr. Joe H. Hart, who, as chairman of the entertainment committee, always does so much to add to the enjoyment of everybody, young and old. And last, but by no means least, we are always indebted for the success of our reunions to our President, Allen R. Shimer; to our Secretary, Howard E. Shimer and to our Treasurer, Joseph P. Shimer

AX'S BURYING GROUND.

IN VOLUME 1, page 7, fourth line, reference is made to Ax's burying ground. In July, 1912, the writer had the pleasure of meeting W. B. Prichett, Esq., at his home, 6205 Germantown Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. Prichett is a respected citizen of Germantown, and for many years has been the overseer of this old burying ground. In his possession, carefully wrapped in paper and kept in a box, was an old book which contained the following record written nearly two hundred years ago:

"Transactions and Proceedings relating to the Upper Germantown Burying Ground. Memoranda: To whom these may concern. Be it remembered, that they whose names are hereunder written have subscribed and paid for the making of a stone wall about the Grave Yard burying ground at the upper end of Germantown and have a right therein at any time hereafter. The work was begun in May in the year of our Lord 1724 and was begun by Dirk Johnson and John Frederick Ax, who begun and with the assistance of the underwritten got it finished, to wit: Anthony Klineken, Henry Sellen, Garret Rittinghouse, William Dewees, JACOB SHIMER, David Potts, John Potts, and others."

After carefully inspecting the book, the writer was invited to go with Mr. Prichett to the old burying ground which is just a few squares above his home on Germantown Avenue. The old Concord school house, built in 1775, stands beside the burying ground, a quaint old place, still well preserved and kept in good order. All styles of "headstones" can be seen there. Quite a number have just ordinary field stones to mark the last resting places of the dead. In the old book above referred to there is a record which reads as follows: "Buried, that Catholic man's wife living on Chestnut Hill," but there is no stone to mark the place unless it is one of the old field stones. No name is mentioned in reference to who the man was, or who his wife was. As there is no record of where Jacob Shimer's first wife is buried, the writer would not be surprised to learn some day that she was buried there, because Jacob Shimer had the right of burial there.

The land for "The Upper Burial Ground," sometimes called Ax's burial ground, because Frederick Ax was the first and for many years the sexton of the place, was presented to the borough of Germantown in 1693 by Paul Wolf. It contains one-half acre of ground.

Here are buried many of the early settlers and their descendants. Here are the graves of Major Irwin, Captain Turner, Adjutant Lucas and six other American soldiers killed in the battle of Germantown.

Among the subscribers to the building of the wall around this burial ground was David Potts. On page 11, line 7, of Volume 1, we read that Jacob Scheimer bought his 110-acre farm from David Potts. Would it not be possible and even probable that Potts sold the land to Shimer while they were both residents of Philadelphia County and that Shimer with his family traveled up along the Perkiomen trail, the old "King's Highway," running from Philadelphia to Macongie, as he was living at Skippack at the time, then over to and on down the Lehigh River to the place which he had bought?

We note, also, the name of Dirk Johnson, as one, who with Jacob Shimer and others, helped to build that wall. In 1733 Johnson bought of the Penns 350 acres of land situated on a branch of the Perkiomen Creek, in Bucks County, now Lehigh County, Pa. In 1792 John Shimer, grandson of Jacob Shimer, became the possessor of 178 acres of this plot. From that time to this, the place has been known as Shimerville and the farm is in the possession of Llewellyn S. Shimer, grandson of John Shimer.
